

High School Students On Campus For Mid-Winter Choral Clinic Today

Nearly 550 high school students are on campus today participating in a mid-winter choral clinic. Ten high schools are included in the event, which is sponsored by the Music Department.

Dr. Morris Hayes, choral director from the Department of Music of Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan., is guest director for the clinic. He is conducting the 550 voice massed chorus in rehearsals throughout the day and will direct them at the closing concert this afternoon at 4 p.m.

INDIVIDUAL HIGH SCHOOL choirs are scheduled to hold one-hour clinic workshop sessions with a member of the Music Department. In addition, each school has brought soloists and small ensembles which will also be performing for members of the clinic staff.

Music Department faculty members assisting with the clinic ical sessions will be Dr. Edwin Liemohn, Dr. James Fritschel, Mrs. Marian Schroeder, C. Robert Larson and Dr. Maynard Anderson.

Robert Lee, who is on a year's leave of absence for study at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, will also be assisting with the sessions.

THE CLOSING CONCERT at 4 p.m. will be held in Knights Gymnasium. It is free and open to the public. In addition to the performance by the large clinic chorus, each individual high school will present a choral number.

There will also be presentations by the Wartburg College Band, Choir and Castle Singers.

High schools participating in today's clinic are from Elkader, Fredericksburg, Garrison, Keystone, Northwood, Riceville, Calmar, Sumner, Elgin and Epworth.

7 Freshmen, 28 Transfers Register For 2nd Semester

Seven new freshmen and 28 transfer students have registered for second semester.

New freshmen who have enrolled are Robert Charleston, Bucyrus, Ohio; Gerald Fritsch, Worth, Ill.; Eugene Heineman, Sumner; Thomas Mark, Cedar Falls; Katherine Rusch, Green Bay, Wis.; Diane Schoon, Anamosa; and Susan Timm, Chicago, Ill.

Transfer students include Dannie Allers, Keystone; Joan Anderson, Winfield; Helene Becker, Fort Dodge; Steven Beckman, Cedar Rapids; Gary Brewer, Philo, Ill.; Thomas Brobeck, Milwaukee, Wis.; Allen Cady, Elyria, Ohio; and Edward Hamann, Ottawa, Ill.

Robert Jenkins, Cedar Falls; Jim Kaufman, Tama; Lana Kjergaard, Waverly; Carole Kollman, Greene; Jane Lardahl, Chippewa Falls, Wis.; Connie Mellencamp, Richard Mellencamp, Cedar Falls; Dennis Moeller, Fairbank; John Moyers, Sycamore, Ill.; Ellwyn Parks, Utica, Ill.; and David Plager, Waterloo.

Michael Puls, Seymour, Wis.; Noel Rewerts, Grundy Center; Dennis Saltzman, Denver; Carole Satterly, Waterloo; Marjorie Sauer, Yorkville, Ill.; Gary Swedberg, Sycamore, Ill.; Mark Thebiay, Eagle Grove; Roger Womack, Eagle Grove; and James Wiechmann, Flanagan, Ill.

Twenty-two students who have previously attended Wartburg have returned this semester and there are a number of new special students.

A supper was held for the new students Wednesday evening in the Castle Room. They were welcomed by Student Body President Dave Hutson.

Tuesday's Convo Will Present Clarke College Theatre Group

Convocation Tuesday will feature the Coffee House Singers from Clarke College, a Catholic girls' school at Dubuque.

The group of two nuns, 14 girls and three men will present excerpts from a two-hour program they did for the armed forces in Europe last summer.

Sponsored by the American Armed Forces, the Singers performed their Coffee House Theatre for 35,000 U. S. servicemen in Germany, and then toured France, Italy and Scotland.

"Time" magazine recently ran an article on the group's singing and summer tour performances.

Thursday's convocation will be an address, "The Liberal Arts College," given by Dr. J. O. Chellevold, dean of the faculty. First semester Dean's List will also be announced.

Artist Series Tickets Available Thurs., Fri.

Tickets for the fourth Artist Series of the year will be available Thursday and Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the foyer of the Chapel-auditorium.

The Netherlands Chamber Choir will be featured in this Artist Series program on Feb. 16.

Students are reminded that they must present an activity ticket in order to receive a ticket for the performance. Tickets must be obtained in advance, as they are not issued on the evening of the performance.

These 14 girls, members of Clarke College's Coffee House Singers, will be featured at Tuesday's convocation. They will perform portions of programs they presented on a tour of armed forces bases in Europe last summer.

Women's Club To Present 3-Act Play February 12, 13

Sophomore Allen Lyndrup will serve as guest actor in "Ladies in Retirement," which will be presented Feb. 12 and 13. Sponsored by the Waverly Women's Club, proceeds of the play will go to the Cedar Valley Mental Health Association.

"Ladies in Retirement" is a three-act psychological study in murder which has been acclaimed as a "perfect example of psychological melodrama." The play by Percy and Denham has been a great success as originally produced in London, New York and on the road.

Lyndrup joins six members of the Waverly Women's Club in the performance. They include Mrs. Carl Hagemann, Mrs. Paul Koch, Mrs. Melvin Miller, Mrs. Jerry McNamara, Mrs. James Coddington and Mrs. Connie Bartlett.

John Gill, Speech Department, is directing the play. Mrs. Lyle Quandt is serving as assistant director. Wartburg students are assisting with lighting and scenery. The play's Victorian setting is in rural England.

According to Gill, "The play consists of an excellent cast of experienced and talented people, several of whom possess degrees in speech and theatre."

Student admission to the presentation is 75 cents. It will be presented Feb. 12 and 13 at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

3rd English Film Will Be Tuesday

"Crime and Punishment" will be shown Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Chapel - auditorium as the third in the series of movies sponsored by the English Department. Admission charge is 35 cents.

The movie portrays the psychological complications of a criminal tormented by knowledge of his crime and the relentless war of nerves waged by his prosecutor.

This struggle eventually ends in the criminal's confession after he has been reduced to the verge of madness.

Five Students Attend SCI Political Confab

Five students attended a political workshop Jan. 16 and 17 at State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls. Open to all interested students, the event was sponsored by Iowa College Young Republicans.

Representing Wartburg were Oren Swenson, junior; Jean Biere, sophomore; and Doug Hart, Gary Kuehl and George Anderson, freshmen.

Bullfight, Posada Highlight Prof's Vacation

BY KATIE MAAHS

By train and chartered bus Miss Stella Austerud, Elementary Education Department, traveled from Des Moines to San Antonio, Tex., to Mexico City during her Christmas vacation. Accompanied by Miss Florence Dix of Waverly, Miss Austerud toured Mexico as part of a 40-member group.

Crossing the border into Mexico was extremely interesting, according to Miss Austerud, because the train stops in the middle of the bridge over the Rio Grande. Here the conductors check the passengers' tourist permits, which are required for entrance to Mexico.

"It is not easy to enter Mexico illegally by train because in the middle of the Rio Grande there is no way to get out!

"ACTUALLY, IT IS more difficult to get back into the United States than to leave it. First, you need proof of citizenship and smallpox vaccination papers and then your suitcase is opened and inspected.

"The authorities also confiscate all fruit. We had to give up two perfectly good apples that we had bought at a fruit stand," she explained.

The first day of sightseeing was spent in Mexico City. Miss Austerud described the city as being "one of the most beautiful cities I have ever seen at Christmas time."

MEXICO CITY is elaborately decorated during the holidays with various religious scenes on the buildings and streets. The Mexicans also use Christmas trees to decorate their cities as we do here in America.

Miss Austerud and her tour group were treated to a genuine Mexican Christmas posada, a Christmas program for people of all ages but especially for children.

Miss Stella Austerud points out some of the places she visited on her recent trip to Mexico.

The children, blindfolded, attempt to break open a posada, a huge papier-mache' ball, filled with toys.

INCLUDED IN THIS Christmas program was a re-enactment of the Christmas story, complete with Mary on a donkey and Joseph beside her. The program ended with the singing of Christmas songs.

"Even in Spanish we could recognize "Silent Night," she commented.

"The houses in Mexico are unique because they have high fences around them for complete privacy. The fences are built before the house is built and enclose the courtyards," she explained.

In Cuernavaca, one city she visited, there are three cathedrals, one for each class of people. The richest people go to the most elaborate cathedral, and the richness of the furnishings is proportionate to the income of its members.

"IF YOU WANT the feel of a ritzy vacation go to Acapulco," she said. "That's where the fabulous homes and hotels are."

While in Acapulco, Miss Austerud had a chance to see the famed divers dive off the cliffs in search of money.

At the largest bull ring in the world, in Xochimilco, she saw bullfights. They are given every Sunday afternoon in Mexico. Six bulls are killed at each performance.

"Bullfighting is quite an art. If the bull doesn't attack the horse of the picador, who taunts the bull, then he isn't a fighter. We saw only one bull who wasn't a fighter, and he was taken out of the ring.

"AFTER THE BULL is killed he is dragged off by a horse. The whole thing takes about twenty minutes. The bull is then butchered, and the meat is used for eating.

"I wouldn't care to see a bullfight again. I only wanted to see one because it is typical of Mexico," explained Miss Austerud.

She found Mexico City to be a very modern city, and said of the people of Mexico, "You don't get the true picture of Mexico just by visiting the border. The Mexicans are very friendly and courteous.

"But of course, you have to watch your pocketbook there as well as any place else!"

ANOTHER COMMENT ABOUT Mexico City concerns the taxis there. She said that you have to be careful of taxi drivers because they will gyp you if you don't. A tourist, especially, has to know how much the ride will cost beforehand so that he won't be overcharged.

Language was no problem for her because most of the people in the hotels speak English and the guides, of course, all speak English.

Miss Austerud has traveled extensively in the past to Europe, Cuba, Nassau and to both the eastern and western parts of Canada.

One of her hobbies is collecting sterling silver spoons from these various places. She has now added another piece from her vacation in Mexico.

No Pay For Losing Pants

Would you take off your pants for nothing in public? Dave Hutson did. In fact, he performs all the duties of the student body president for nothing and so have all his predecessors.

It is rather ironic that the student body president, who is the student body's chief diplomat, receives no remuneration for his job. People who work in the library, cafeteria and in other places around campus are paid 80 cents an hour for their efforts.

EDITORS OF THE Trumpet and Fortress are paid $100 a semester. Business managers of both publications also receive a salary. And on the Trumpet, the managing editor, advertising manager and circulation manager are also paid.

If you referee an intramural game, you get paid. But if you try to referee the golfs on of the student body, you don't get a cent.

Duties of the student body president are many and varied. Besides having charge of the Senate and overseeing student government in general, he is constantly in demand for one thing or another.

He greets many of the groups visiting the campus and takes part in countless meetings of students and administrators. He often represents the college at meetings, and, when we lose the Luther game, he even forfeits his pants.

IN ADDITION TO these and many other jobs, he is also a student and must carry a full time academic load. It could possibly be argued that the student body president knows what he's getting into when he runs for office. But on this basis, it would seem that we've been quite fortunate in getting the caliber of prexys we have had.

A campaign costs a certain amount, even though there is some reimbursement for campaign expenses. So, in all these years, the student body president has really been paying to get the job, with nothing paid him in return.

Student Senators are planning to discuss this issue in their meetings this semester. It would seem that the only fair decision for them to make would be to take steps to make the job of student body president salaried in some way or other. This could either be done by a certain salary or else some kind of a tuition grant from the school. Either way, it seems a logical step.

Folkerts' Folly

Fixation At Grade Stage

BY JIM FOLKERTS

Relax! Nothing can be done about it anyway in most instances. Besides, Wednesday will soon be here and your mind will be set at ease. Too many students have been moving around campus the last two weeks as if they have misplaced their heads and left their brains in them.

However, I suppose there is a perfectly legitimate reason for this spastic behavior. It affects every student who is affected by Wartburg. The problem is the fixation at the grade stage. Everyone seems so worried about them, but why?

THEY'RE GOING to get them sooner or later, and in some cases later is better. So why should one become all hot and bothered over something not too appealing anyway.

(Actually, I am able to write this story with no guilt feelings, since I have already found out what the taxation of my mental capabilities has resulted in, or in other words, my grades.)

This mess started two weeks ago. First over expectations, then over what was taking place and now over the fear of what took place. Instructors, too, are looking a little haggard in trying to post grades as the students demand them.

I DON'T WANT to say that this isn't a good policy, because it is. Furthermore, it should be continued.

If it isn't, or for some reason another system was tried, or if the students left for semester break before grades were posted and if instructors refused to post grades, terrible repercussions could result.

These could affect students' emotional makeup producing further warped personalities around Wartburg and thusly affecting academic and social conditions of the school. This, in turn, could have a large influence on the future enrollment of this institution.

NOW THIS BUSINESS of camping outside instructors' offices for hours, and even overnight (neglecting the next day's test just to learn the grade when it can't be that important anyway) is going a little far.

I think the best policy is to wait patiently until all grades come out and then take a sweeping glance at them, so the shock is not too great on the system. There are various types of shock, the shock of having a grade go up, the shock of that stupid thing not moving and the expected shock of it gently sliding probationward.

In conclusion let bygones be bygones because they will be anyway. Just wait, with the only preparation being a letter of warning to the home address, or to the parents, if you prefer.

Scenes similar to the one above are frequent during final exam week, when students try to catch a few of the winks they missed the night before. But it looks as if junior Pete Hansen is tired after only a few days of the new semester. Rest in peace, Pete.

Knights Back In Action Tonight; Winona Is Foe Following Layoff

BY DALE WEHLING

After a two-week semester break Wartburg's basketball fortunes will again be put on the line tonight as the Knights travel to Minnesota for a non-conference game with Winona State.

Coach Fred Jaspers stated, "We're further along now than before but I think we had too much vacation. Most of the boys didn't come back with the right frame of mind."

Jaspers continued, "I intend to use the same starting line-up that finished out the semester for us."

"WE ARE IN good physical shape except for Cliff Cameron, who reinjured his ankle, and Dennis Bowman, who has a bad charlie horse. However, both men should be ready to play Saturday."

Rebounding, one of the major problems which Jaspers said he felt would hamper the Knights, has not been a problem since Wartburg has been able to out-rebound its opponents.

Leading rebounders for the Knights have been senior center Cliff Cameron and freshman forward John Hearn. Cameron has been averaging 12.8 rebounds per game while Hearn is averaging 8.8 a game.

Cameron is also the leading scorer with a 17 point per game average.

OTHER TOP SCORERS for the Knights are Lowell Syverson and Dennis Bowman.

Wartburg's record stands at 5-7 for the first half of the season.

Knight basketball ranks were strengthened when two former Wapsie Valley prep stars enrolled for the semester. They are guard Dennis Moeller and forward Gene Heineman.

Another top prospect is transfer student Steve Boeckman. He was a guard on the Cedar Rapids Regis team which won the state title in 1962.

Becker's Blunders

This is Basketball??

BY MIKE BECKER

I-M basketball under the guiding hand of Gerald Baldner has once more brought life to the Wartburg College gym. Originally derived from the ancient game of soccer, this game has all the qualities of the result of cross breeding between touch football, soccer and water polo.

It is a game where the big man is finely cut down to size, usually by about three or four little men when the ref is looking up into the bleachers at his girlfriend. However, this is a sport which draws together hundreds of frustrated basketball stars under one roof with one common goal -- "Shoot whenever, wherever and however you can."

It's hard to pick out the really top teams this early in the season, but there are several that are consistently tough. They include the Married Men, Ketha House and Off-campus.

Rumor has it that Gamma offered Lowell Syverson a bigger scholarship to quit basketball than the college gave him to play if he would move from Vollmer to Gamma to strengthen their front line. He almost accepted it but refused it when they wouldn't throw in a free trip every night to Roy's.

On the more (usually) serious side, Wartburg sports a 5-5 conference record, which is the result of sporadic signs of brilliance combined with more frequent gestures of kindness on our part to our opposition. There have been several bright spots, one or two disappointments, and yet there is still the need for that certain something which exists elsewhere but not here. Call it what you may, but somewhere something is lacking.

Norm Johansen has done a fine job turning his fighters into challengers for the conference championship. We have a new addition from Eagle Grove, who co-captained the wrestling team there with our own Dave Long. He should help us out considerably in the lower weights. If the rest of the grapplers stay eligible we should be in good shape to take on perennially strong Luther.

Larry Snitker is still unbeaten at 167 or 177 and has proved to be the mainstay of the whole team. Mike Tower, our lone returning conference champ, has been wrestling better than ever but seems to meet the toughest man in every meet. Jim Ayres has really given us a boost at 130-lbs. If he can remain eligible he could develop into a top-class mat man.

Student Teaching Marks Real Beginning Of Career

BY JANE VOIGTS

A culmination period for 62 students enrolled in the education curriculum began this week with student teaching. This program involves putting into practice theories and methods discussed in the classroom.

It means a lot of hard work and cooperation on the part of the supervising teacher, student teacher and college coordinator, but the practical experience and ideas exchanged are immeasurable.

For most student teachers it marks the beginning of a feeling of "being on their own." It also imparts a sense of responsibility to their respective students and to the entire realm of education.

STUDENT TEACHING, which consists of a nine-week period, begins with observation of the classroom situation, followed by actual teaching. The last two weeks are again spent in observation.

Those student teaching in the elementary grades in the Waverly school system teach for the entire day. College coordinator for the elementary teacher curriculum is Miss Stella M. Austerud.

At Lincoln School are Carolyn Smith, second grade, and Corrine Hanson, fourth grade. Sherry Zietlow and Jean Coxey are teaching first grade at Irving School. Betty Judas, second grade; Elaine Roloff, third grade; and Eileen Peters, fourth grade, are also at Irving School.

TEACHING AT the junior high school is Anita Wenger at the sixth grade level. Carol Finkensbinder is teaching third grade at West Cedar School.

Southeast School student teachers are Marilyn Solomonson, first grade, and Lavonne Kragel, fourth grade. Those at St. Paul's are Linda Teig, first grade; Jan Grau, second grade; Karyl Ehlers, third grade; Sue Wiechers, fourth grade; and Amy Linkert, fifth grade.

Dr. Herbert Max heads the secondary level curriculum. Those in the secondary grades teach for both half and whole days in the Waverly school system and in surrounding towns.

STUDENT TEACHERS at the Waverly - Shell Rock Senior High School are James Miller, math; Darlene Wesenberg; English; Bob Bone, speech; and Nancy Rahn and Oranoo Opeyo, biology.

Jane Voigts, Cliff Cameron, Harry Jebson, Carlton Johnson, history; and Ronald Foelske and Lois Dietz, business.

Teaching both at the Waverly-Shell Rock High School and Waverly Junior High are Ray Bye, Bob Nielsen, Jerry Schrader, Bill Andregg, Cheryl Sorenson, Barb Burke and Barb Ruprich, all in physical education.

ALSO AT THE Waverly Junior High are Leroy Stumme and Lorraine Martz, math; Harold Shudlick, social studies; Carol Childs, Ruth Murray and Del Hennings, science; and Myrna Klutter and Helen Shudlick, English.

At the Tripoli High School Gayle Fisher is teaching business. Lora Froehlich is at St. Paul's teaching English and Shirley Gratias is at Sumner High School in the girls' physical education department.

Janesville student teachers are Dale Fridley, history, and Gail Yocum, science. Alma Brunscheen and Victoria Rakow, English, and Elizabeth Kalkwarf, German, are at Plainfield High School.

Ardis Janssen, Barbara Nuss, physical education; Paul Zietlow, math; and Jim Folkerts, social studies, are student teaching at the Nashua High School.

TEACHING SOCIAL studies at Shell Rock Junior High School is Gary Schwandt. Marion Brunscheen, business, is at Greene High School. Denver High School student teachers are Pat Tiffany, business, and Kent Dahlquist, science.

Those teaching music are George Curtis, Waverly - Shell Rock High School; Judy Lanaghan, Waverly Schools; Sylvia Schumacher, Plainfield Schools; and Richard Koehler, New Hampton High School.

Faculty Notes

Faculty Members' Activities Vary With Conferences, Guest Lectures

Twenty-second annual meeting of the American Association of Basic Science Board will be convened by Dr. Elmer Hertel, Biology Department, next Saturday in Chicago.

Dr. Hertel is president of the organization, which establishes basic science examinations for those wishing to enter the healing arts.

Dr. Walter G. Tillmanns, Modern Language Department, has been named an editorial consultant for the "Lutheran Standard."

His responsibility will include reading manuscripts and advising the editors of the magazine, which is the official publication of the American Lutheran Church.

DR. A. W. SWENSEN, Physical Science Department, will be at Newman High School, Mason City, Wednesday as a part of the Iowa Visiting Scientist Program.

Pres. John W. Bachman spent last weekend and a part of this week speaking with alumni groups and foundations on the West Coast. He spoke in Phoenix, Ariz.; Los Angeles, Calif.; San Francisco, Calif.; Portland, Ore.; Seattle, Wash.; and Denver, Colo.

Dr. Bachman discussed recent developments at Wartburg, plans for the future and the issues of higher education in general with these groups.

MISS JEAN Abramson, pianist and assistant professor of music, was guest artist on a program presented by the Finlandia Male Chorus of Detroit, Mich., last Saturday.

Dr. James Fritschel, Music Department, will be a featured speaker at the Church Music Forum to be held next Saturday at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

Cash Prizes To Be Given For Poetry

Iowa college students may compete for cash prizes in the 1965 Iowa Poetry Association Contest. First prize is ten dollars; second, five dollars; and third, three dollars. Feb. 15 is the entry deadline.

College entries may be sent to Mildred Bensmiller, Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant. Poems must be original and unpublished. One to five poems may be submitted, the maximum length being 20 lines each.

Name and address of the writer, the school he attends and grade level must be on each sheet. A self-addressed envelope should be enclosed.

The Iowa Poetry Association includes an adult, collegiate and school (elementary and secondary) level. Purpose of the association is to promote interest and an appreciation for better poetry by Iowans.

"Lyrical Iowa," a yearly anthology, is published by the association. Although few college poems are printed in the brochure, Wartburg students have won several prizes in the contest and usually one or two Wartburg entries appear in the publication.
